How do we use cookies?

At Mouldshop.dk, we use cookies for several purposes. They help make your navigation on the site easier by remembering your preferences and past actions, e.g., items in the shopping cart. We also use cookies to analyze how our website is used, which helps us improve both functionality and content. Furthermore, we use cookies for targeted marketing, so you receive relevant offers. Our use of cookies complies with applicable data protection laws and respects your privacy.

What types of cookies do we have?

Necessary

Necessary cookies help make a website usable by enabling basic functions, such as page navigation and access to secure areas of the website. The website cannot function optimally without these cookies.

Functional

We collect information about your preferred settings and choices on the website. We do this to show you the version of the website that matches your preferences. The information is used to determine which region and language you prefer, to show videos and other visual elements on the website, for example, job search.

Statistical

We collect information about how you interact with the website, including how often you visit the page and which pages you look at. We do this to optimize the design, usability, and effectiveness of the website. Additionally, we use the information to provide you with personalized content and conduct market analyses.

Marketing

We collect information about your interests, including which pages and ads you click on, which products or services you show interest in, or purchase, on this and other websites. We do this to show you ads that are relevant to you and your interests. To show you targeted ads on this and other websites, we collaborate with
